

April 28 - 30, 2022
Loews Miami Beach Hotel

Speaker Biography

Grant E. Garrigues, MD

Dr. Garrigues is shoulder and elbow specialist in the sports medicine division of orthopaedic surgery, Midwest Orthopaedics at Rush in Chicago, Illinois, USA. He received his undergraduate and medical degrees from Harvard, a research degree from MIT, completed his orthopaedic residency at Duke University, and a shoulder and elbow fellowship at The Rothman Institute. He was the Head of Shoulder Reconstruction and Co-Director of the Sports Medicine and Shoulder Surgery Fellowship at Duke for a decade before being recruited to Rush.

Dr. Garrigues' clinical practice focuses on the management of any and all shoulder and elbow conditions. Currently, he is co-team physician for the Chicago White Sox (Major League Baseball) and the Chicago Bulls (National Basketball Association). Dr. Garrigues has been honored with multiple awards, including the 2017 ASES European traveling fellowship, a prestigious 2018 OREF grant, an ASES research grant, and an NIH R01 grant. He has authored over 200 publications, multiple textbooks, and was the Co-Chair of the 2018 International Consensus on Periprosthetic Joint Infection Shoulder Task-force. Additionally, he has been involved in the design of multiple, successful, FDA-approved shoulder replacement systems.